The Young American Award

Background

First presented in 1968, the award is given to students who have achieved exceptional excellence to highlight publicly the importance of their achievements and service to their community, state and nation. Nominees may or may not be youth participants in Learning for Life or youth members of the Boy Scouts of America.

Council Selection Procedure

The local council can give as many as they choose of the council-level Young American Award plaques, No. 17668 (student age 15 through 25).

Local council responsibility is:

- See that appropriate council units and other local community youth-serving organizations receive applications.
- Review the applications and select council recipient(s). Notify all nominees of the decision by mail. Order the council-level Young American Award Plaque, No. 17668, from the Supply Group for presentation at an appropriate council ceremony.
- Through proper public relations, focus attention on the council-level recipient(s) and their accomplishments.
- The council then submits their best national award nominee(s) (student attending college through age 25). The national-level award consists of a ribbon medallion and an unrestricted cash award of $7,500.

How to Apply

Applications are sent to the local council office. Nominations can be made by Boy Scout troops, Explorer posts, Venturing crews, Learning for Life groups, individuals, and other community youth-serving organizations that share the same program objectives. Since applications are not carried over or returned, original documents of personal value should not be included with the application. Previously submitted applications can be updated and resubmitted through the local council office through age 25.
